3 STEPS TO PLAN FOR NATUROPATHIC SCHOOL

STEP 01 ACADEMIC PLAN
Prerequisites vary somewhat from school to school, but generally speaking, you want to ensure that you’ve taken the required pre-medical courses, including biology and chemistry. Most schools require the completion of a psychology/counseling course as well.

STEP 02 PERSONAL PLAN
Deciding which school to attend means taking into consideration location, job opportunities, and your desired location following graduation. You’ll also want to factor in the role and importance of your family and support systems, as well as the academic offerings, school culture and student body of each school.

STEP 03 FINANCIAL PLAN
You can expect the cost of ND school to be similar to that of pursuing other higher education degrees, including tuition and personal expenses. AANMC offers student loan resources on our website, but we encourage students to take out the bare minimum to complete the program. You may want to consider a work-study program as well.

*This infographic is just a snapshot of the information we provide on our website. We strongly encourage you to visit https://aannmc.org/resources/3-steps-help-plan-naturopathic-school/ to get a better understanding of how best to plan for your education.

818 18th Street NW, Suite 250, Washington, DC 20006 800-345-7454
www.aannmc.org

AANMC represents 7 naturopathic programs across 8 campus locations:
BASTYR • BINM • CCNM • NCMN • NUHS • SCNM • UBCNM